This year, for the first time in Haves Center High School history, we had the privilege of having two foreign exchange students as members of the Senior Class.

Mari Vahanissi came to the United States from the capital city of Finland, Helsinki. She lived from August 1980 through mid December with the Roland Anderjaska family. While at the High School, Mari contributed much to our class and high school. She participated in Pep Club, Annual Staff and was a starter on our Girl's Basketball team until her departure.

Marcos Zaidan came to the United States from Sao Paulo, Brazil. He lived from December 1980 through February 1981 with the Tom Anderjaska family. Marcos impressed us all as a very outgoing person, fluent in English and eager to learn as much as possible about our rural Nebraska community. While here, he participated in Speech Contest in Informative Speaking, the SFC Drama Contest at Wheatland and in Boys Basketball.

PROPHECY

Well, there it was May 17th the year 2001 exactly 20 years from the date of my high school graduation Good ole Hayes Center High — only somehow I don't think that's how we described it back in 1981. Anyway I decided it would be a good day to spend some of my riches on some new clothes I never really went shopping since I had become head nurse at the famous Mayo Clinic in Minneapolis. I must say they pay well — why I even own a ranch back in Nebraska — 1000 Acres. I called New York to find out about a new wardrobe and who do I talk to but Lisa Brown — now an assistant to Calvin Klein. She invited me up to New York to be fitted for the wardrobe and suggested I stay in her penthouse. Of course I accepted. She took me for a night on Broadway and we ran into another one of our classmates — Pamela Ford she changed her name from Rutherford for the stage. She was starring in a remake of the 1980 Broadway hit and movie FAME. We pashed backstage and found her dressing room packed with big name celebrities but she saw us and came running over. She said her big break came in 1985 when she met an agent who got her a part in a small musical and the critics had loved it. Since then she had become quite a name on Broadway. She told us that Brian Fagerstone was also in New York for the week. We rushed right down to the Stock Market and sure enough there he was. We almost didn't recognize him because he had grown after high school and was six feet three inches tall. He was definitely surprised to see us but told us he flew in from his California home every other week to check on the market trends for his company Brian's Brokerage. He told us Abbie Widger was his lawyer and her office was in Washington D.C. Lisa and I decided that as long as we had met this many of our old classmates again we would find out what all of them were doing. We caught a plane to Washington and contacted Abbie from the airport. She sent her limousine to pick us up (which was very impressive since gas now costs $11.00 a gallon). Abbie met us on the steps of the White House. She had to rush because the President was requesting her services as an attorney so we didn't talk much. She did tell us however that Ken Anderson was now a Four-Star General whose office was in the Pentagon. It seems the Air Force really paid for him. She said he was usually on vacation somewhere in the Caribbean though so maybe we should try Kenny Johnson who owned a computer programming service. We went to his office building where we found he had gone to the Mid-East to fix a computer that was on the blink — some South African had toiled with it. His secretary said she had the addresses of some of his HCHS classmates he still kept in touch with. One of them was Kevin Anderaska. We caught a plane to Los Angeles and met Kevin at a recording studio. He was no longer singing but producing albums. 'Much more money' he said. He also owns an automobile factory — drives a new one every day. Kevin had heard that Sandy Rutherford owned a thoroughbred stud farm in Kentucky so we chartered a plane to land at her private airport. She was surprised to see us but told us she had been very successful raising horses and even employed a couple of our other classmates Reggie Vlasin and Rick Kerchal. Rick was head trainer for the thoroughbreds and had produced three Kentucky Derby Winners — his personal favorite was a colt named Kercho — he had won the Triple Crown. Reggie was a jockey. I asked him if he was still paying off his car and he said traveling by horse was cheaper so he sold his car in 1982. He told us that Peggy M. Nutt was now the head coach of the Dallas Cowboys. Of course we had to see that so we took our plane to Dallas and sure enough she was coaching football. 'Coach' as the players called her had a winning streak of 100 games behind her although this was her first year coaching at Dallas. She told me that JoLynne Richards was the coach for the famous Dallas Cowboy cheerleaders and had been a cheerleader herself for ten years before becoming the coach. JoLynne was in Hong Kong with her performing cheerleaders so we decided to head back for good ole Hayes Center and see if the rest of our classmates were around there. We landed our plane in McCook and the first thing we saw was a sign, Bishop's Bunny Farm — Straight Ahead. It had to be Gregg Bishop's rabbit farm. He bought the farm in 1980 and had been rich ever since. He said Brad and Monte had become farmers after college so we drove to Hayes Center to see if they had been successful. Brad Farnoff owned a mansion in town and Monte McKilap resided on the family farm. We went to Brad's first and found him watching his birds in the back yard. He said he owned half of Hayes and Hitchcock counties and raised cuckoo birds for relaxation, hiring people to do the farm work. All the roads in Hayes County were paved since Monte became county commissioner at the age of 20 so Lisa and I had no trouble getting to Monte's place. He said he owned the other half of Hayes and Hitchcock counties and was doing very well. He told us Kristy (Nelms) Vapenik lived in Wauneta so we drove there. Kristy and Jerry now own Chase County. Kristy also owns a wig producing factory that makes wigs for the aging and singing Dolly Parton. She said it was rather depressing when Dolly came in to be fitted and we agreed. After talking to Kristy we decided it was time to go home. We always knew everyone in our class would become very successful — after all we're the CLASS OF EIGHTY-ONE!!!!

LIVE FOR TODAY

Do you remember way back when we were young?
 All of the work and all of the fun.
 We had our ups and we had our down,
 but now we're tired of sitting around.
 Life was sweet, so complete, but we've got to be movin' on.
 SO We've got to . . .
 Some will find that mountain to climb,
 others will do just fine.
 And people will see how great we will be,
 as we move on in time.
 So we've got to
 And so my friends, we've got to leave,
 and do all the things we've got to achieve,
 Start a new life and move up in the world.
 And forget about the past.
 Because we've got to
CHORUS
 Live for today, for yesterday is but a memory
 Live for today and tomorrow is but a dream.
 Live for today, for yesterday is but a memory
 Live for today, and tomorrow is but a dream.

The Sophomore Class had a fantastic second year of high school. They began the year by winning the Homecoming float competition. The float was entitled "Turn 'Em Every Which Way But Loose" (below). Moneymaking projects, all directed towards putting on the Junior-Senior Prom next year, were raffling off a quarter-beef and concessions at track meets. Highlights of Sophomore classes were dissecting frogs in Biology, taking tests and most of all, trying to pass those tests!

FIVE OF US!!

The Freshmen class, all five stand proud. Through this year together as we suffered one more year. It's been rewarding and experiencing at that. Our good ole' Homecoming float and soup supper remind us of that first and last Freshmen year. Terry Wilson, Jim Nelms, Robert Brush, Monte Vlasin and Kim Hastings too, make up our class the whole year through. We'll go on until next season looking forward to being Sophomores and those rotten Seniors gone.

How could we forget Robert's trips uptown in under a minute, and Jim & Terry's icicle, good ole' Monte's football bus trips and Kim Hastings being the silent minority. Oh, we can hardly wait 'til we become Seniors and start treating those Freshmen like true adults. We'll never regret our first high school days and hope to see our last go out in RAGE!"

Congradulations to a very fine bunch of young individuals who have shown various types of leadership abilities throughout the year here at Hayes Center High. The Hayes commended for their fine attitude throughout the year and for the many accomplishments that they have had in the

The 1980 Football team started with many experienced players and above all, a determination to establish a winning tradition at Hayes Center High School. The team steadily improved and established itself as a team that could play with anyone. The Seniors, who set a fine example in leadership for future teams, will be missed. -----Coach Cole.

ACTIVITIES

HOMECOMING 1980

Homecoming 1980 began with Spirit Week! Monday was Cowboy Day with lots of kids and teachers showing up in boots, Levis and Wranglers, cowboy hats and even some spurs. Tuesday was Jersey Day. Almost everyone came decked out in a red and white football or volleyball jersey. Wild & Crazy Day was Wednesday. Some of the students really got crazy with wild make-up, etc. Thursday was Hat Day and everyone wore hats, painted windows around town and decorated floats. There was a Death March that evening for the poor Panthers! Friday was the annual Red & White Day. Everyone showed their school spirit by wearing the school colors.

FFA SWEETHEART BALL

QUEEN ABBIE WIDGER

Appropriately, on February 14th, the annual FFA Sweetheart Ball was held. The weather was warm and incredibly windless — more like Spring than the middle of February. LEXI was the disco for the dance that ended a little earlier than planned. Abbie Widger was crowned Queen by 1980 Sweetheart Queen Marlene Vlasin.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT DAY

Every year the Junior Class participates in 'County Government Day'. The members of the class run for offices of the county government and take over these offices for one day. After talking to the actual office holders and learning what the job entails, a mock trial is staged. The offices this year were held by Michaela Lawson — Judge, Bob Lemon and Brad Curran — Sheriffs, Scott Loomis — Attorney for the Defense, Maury Cox — Prosecuting Attorney, Rory Kercha and Dennis Clifford — County Commissioners, Mark Schmeizer — County Treasurer, Dolan Smith — County Clerk and Judy Harst and Calvin Callander — County Extension Agents.
